Bariatric Equipment

Aidacare's bariatric equipment range includes wider seat widths, increased weight capacities, and reinforced materials to meet the specific needs of the bariatric users.

The classification of overweight and obese adults over 18 years, according to BMI (body mass index) is shown in the table below. To calculate BMI, divide a person's weight by their height squared (BMI = weight (kg) ÷ height (m) x height (m)).

Classification	Underweight	Normal Range	Overweight	Obese
BMI	Below 18.5	18.5 - 24.9	25.0 - 29.9	> 30

People in the bariatric category have one or more of the following characteristics:

Weight Capacity > 125kg | Body Mass Index (BMI*) > 30 | Seat Width > 20" (50cm)

There are many variations to these characteristics but recognising the need to provide suitable equipment for bariatric clients is paramount to the safety of clients and carers. Bariatric equipment is designed to assist in: pressure management; heat management; and effective weight distribution on the seating surface.

Bariatric equipment is identified in this catalogue by this symbol.

24 Hour Positioning

Pressure areas can rapidly develop and require regular changes of position to reduce the risk of developing a pressure injury. Long periods in the same position and the effects of gravity on the body can lead to shortening of tendons and fixed changes to posture over time. This in turn, can impact on function, independence, and the ability to be comfortably seated to allow for activity or social participation.

For further information or to organise assistive technology (equipment) for 24-hour positioning, contact Aidacare's Complex Rehab team on 1300 133 120.

Pressure Care

Pressure injuries are a major healthcare concern and can develop in anyone with reduced mobility. They commonly occur in areas where there is prolonged pressure on bony prominences such as the elbow, heel, shoulder, back of head, lower back, and the buttock area.

If left untreated, pressure injuries can lead to serious complications. Therefore, prevention is key to managing areas at risk of pressure injury.

Prevention is key and can include regular changes to position, good hygiene and skin care, and a healthy diet.

Dementia Care

The risk of dementia increases with age. It affects thinking, behaviour, and the ability to perform everyday tasks. Some early signs of dementia include progressive and frequent memory loss, confusion, apathy, and withdrawal. Safety within the home is an important factor to consider when caring for a person with dementia. The home environment should help them know where they are and to find where they want to go. This can be done with large orientation signs and using colour contrast to highlight important items or areas in the home.

Ask our friendly staff to help you select the best products for your situation by calling 1300 133 120.

Falls Prevention

Falls are more prominent with the elderly and can result in injuries such as hip and wrist fractures, dislocations, head injuries, and can sometimes prove fatal. Falls occur for a variety of reasons including medical history, cognitive impairment, gait disorders, and environmental hazards, to name a few.

It is important to implement preventative measures to decrease the chances of a fall particularly for those who are identified to be at high risk.

Such measures can include installing grab rails and safety equipment in wet areas, using mobility aids and hip protectors, and removing clutter and hazardous items around the home.
